

Happy New Year

Reading!

As we look forward to the New Year we are trying to encourage all of our pupils to make time to read every day and take this up as good practice.

Reading is key to all aspects of learning and we need to give time and encouragement for our children to develop a love of reading in order for them to become readers for life.

Our children should have a set routine for reading each day in order to build their stamina. Even when children can read the words independently their understanding and enthusiasm still needs to be developed through the opportunity to share, discuss and reflect on what they are reading.

Here are a couple of websites that might help with book choice although friends are a good place to start in finding recommendations of good reads.
